Margo Huffman Named International Spokesperson for Believe in Tomorrow Children's Foundation

Carroll County, Maryland — Margo Huffman, reigning Miss Teen Maryland International, has recently been named the International Spokesperson for the Believe in Tomorrow Children's Foundation.

The Believe In Tomorrow Children's Foundation, whose headquarters are in Baltimore, is a national leader in hospital and respite housing services and has provided over 560,000 individual overnight hospital and respite housing accommodations to families with critically ill children from every state in the U.S. and 76 countries worldwide.

Special events coordinator at Believe In Tomorrow Children's Foundation, Kate Sachs, said she wasn't surprised at the selection. "This is an enormous honor for Margo and she is perfect for this Spokesperson position. She is a tireless worker, with a passion for volunteering and an ardent supporter of children related organizations like Believe in Tomorrow. We're talking about a young lady who started her own program, Margo's M.O.D.E.L.S. to encourage other people and organizations to encourage volunteering and recognize volunteers in their communities. I'm really proud of her."

Huffman, who is currently preparing for the Miss Teen International Pageant to be held in Chicago, 28-30 July 2011, is a Winner of two Presidential Volunteer Service Awards. This year, instead of enjoying a traditional birthday party like a typical teenager, she held a special fundraising benefit and donated the entire proceeds to The Believe In Tomorrow Children's House at Johns Hopkins.

She encourages people interested in learning more about volunteering opportunities at Believe in Tomorrow to visit the website for information.
