

Unsung Hero Award – 2010

Dave Pruitt

When Dave Pruitt and his family became entrenched in his young nephew's battle with Leukemia, over 15 years ago, he was introduced to the caring support Believe In Tomorrow Children's Foundation offers families who are going through the darkest of days and he's been involved ever since. Dave has been a donor, volunteer, and tireless advocate of Believe In Tomorrow. From being on the team that helped guide Believe In Tomorrow's hospital and respite housing expansion, to forging an introduction with one of our national Hands On Adventure partners, the Professional Bull Riders, Dave's constant presence and promotion have been instrumental to Believe In Tomorrow's growth.

"The results we've been able to deliver in people's lives during the most difficult of times is what motivates me," Dave said recently. "The strides we've been able to accomplish together as an organization with staff, volunteers, donors and friends has made a tremendous impact on my life and my family's as well." Dave and Beth Pruitt's daughter's ages 10, 8 and 5, are believers, too and have participated in our annual Port to Fort Run, before they could even walk. Dave said, "there are so many ways to give and set a good example for your kids. The stuff I do is easy, giving time, spreading the word, donating items. Being involved in Believe In Tomorrow is so rewarding. The payback is tenfold." Please join us in thanking Dave for his tireless dedication to Believe In Tomorrow and join us as we congratulate him on his well deserved Unsung Hero Award.
